

WOULD MAKE A WAR ON CHINA

Russian Minister Urges the Czar To Take Up Arms Against Mongolians.

TO ANNEX MILITARY SPHERES

Insist on Quick Action in Order to Prevent the United States from Vetoing Efforts to Seize the Commercial Markets.

[Special by Scripps-McIntae.]

St. Petersburg, April 11.—Reports apparently on good authority reach here today that the Japanese are now in some force on the north bank of the Yalu and that the Russians are falling back to wards Feng Wang Cheng. According to these reports a Japanese force consisting of two brigades of infantry with some cavalry and field guns crossed the river at Kwan Phien to the east of the Russian position, meeting with practically no opposition.

It cannot be verified that a landing of the Japanese force has been made at Taku-Shan, but it is generally believed this is so and that an attack soon will be made from the east on Antung, the key of the Russian position on the Yalu. This attack would be followed naturally by an attempt to cross the river Wiju. It is believed here that this, if the report be true, is what has caused the Russian abandonment of the Yalu river.

London, April 10.—The correspondent of the Express at Tien Tsin says: It is reported from Mukden that two trains with a large number the Mongolian race. M. Lessar says that, as the Chinese are disaffected toward Russia, their race hatred should be brought clearly into the light and made to take the form of open hostilities, which would warrant Russia in carrying out her policy in the far East much more effectively than ever before.

Threats of China. He avers that Russia has everything to gain by open war with China, and much to lose by her involuntary neutrality. That being so, it is taken for granted in political circles here, as well as in military spheres, that M. Lessar will compel China to show her hand to some purpose, and that in the very near future war will be declared between the two countries.

Hence the repeated protests made by the Russian minister at Peking against the dispatch of Chinese troops beyond the great wall, and his threat that, unless they are speedily withdrawn, China will be treated as a belligerent.

QUAINT FEATURES OF LIFE IN MUKDEN.

MANCHOO GUARD AND PRISONER.

Mukden is at present under Russian control, although China nominally governs the city. For that reason scenes like those depicted are common in this old town, which is the capital of Manchuria and was the original seat of the Manchoo dynasty, which now rules the empire. The walls of Mukden were once thought to be impregnable, but a single shot from a comparatively obsolete gun would now send them tumbling about the ears of their defenders.

of Russians, wounded in an engagement on the Yalu, have passed there. Their destination is Harbin.

Russian Victory. St. Petersburg, April 11.—The rumors which were persistently circulated throughout the capital on Saturday that the Russian fleet under Vice Admiral Makaroff had succeeded in capturing or sinking several Japanese transports which were en route to Chemulpo were renewed again with even stronger force on Sunday. These rumors even went so far as to declare that the blow was of a character that, when the true facts were known, would more than offset all Japanese victories. All attempts to trace the origin of the rumors or to secure an expression of opinion, even in official quarters, have proved futile. In fact it is almost certain that no such news has been received from either Admiral Makaroff or Gen. Kuropatkin, but nevertheless there is an air of suppressed excitement where the official messages are displayed hoping for something definite on the subject.

Wait Till Fall. St. Petersburg, April 11.—Commander Kulezicki, to whom has been entrusted the making of all of the arrangements for the trip of the Baltic fleet to the far east, has transmitted to the czar his preliminary report on the subject, showing what is expected to be accomplished. He declares that it will be possible to get the fleet to its destination before the last of August, should nothing unforeseen happen. Two Russian army corps are to be mobilized during May. One of these will have headquarters at and will be drafted from Moscow and the surrounding towns, while the other will come from Siberia. The officer who made this announcement stated that Russia did not consider herself in any danger from Japan and that therefore she would not remove any of the troops along her seaboard, where they might be needed should any other nations have designs against her.

After China. St. Petersburg, April 11.—The czar is being strongly urged by his ministers to declare war against China. Even the Russian minister to Peking, M. Lessar, who, prior to the outbreak of the present war, was friendly to the Chinese government, is beseeching the Russian ruler with exhortations to take up arms against the Mongolian race. M. Lessar says that, as the Chinese are disaffected toward Russia, their race hatred should be brought clearly into the light and made to take the form of open hostilities, which would warrant Russia in carrying out her policy in the far East much more effectively than ever before.

Threats of China. He avers that Russia has everything to gain by open war with China, and much to lose by her involuntary neutrality. That being so, it is taken for granted in political circles here, as well as in military spheres, that M. Lessar will compel China to show her hand to some purpose, and that in the very near future war will be declared between the two countries.

Hence the repeated protests made by the Russian minister at Peking against the dispatch of Chinese troops beyond the great wall, and his threat that, unless they are speedily withdrawn, China will be treated as a belligerent.

Fine for Bribery. Green Bay, Wis., April 11.—E. T. Webster, sewer contractor, convicted of bribing an alderman, has been fined $1,000.

THE WALLS OF MUKDEN.

As a matter of fact, these protests and threats are mere provocations, because the district of Lianse, which lies outside the great wall and belongs to Manchuria, was formally and expressly returned to China by Russia in October, 1902, and belongs therefore to neutral China, and should accordingly be protected by Chinese troops.

Another provocative act of the Russian Minister is the establishment of a special Russian mission appointed for the purpose of superintending the neutrality of the Chinese troops. That measure is regarded here as an endeavor to drive China into overt acts of war.

To Annex Territory. The plan which, in this eventuality, will be carried out by Russia, is described in military spheres here as follows:

Peking, Tien-Tsin, Tungchow, and Mongolia would be annexed to Russia on the one hand, and the war would be suddenly changed into a great struggle between the yellow races on the one side and the white races on the other, Russia becoming the authorized champion of the latter.

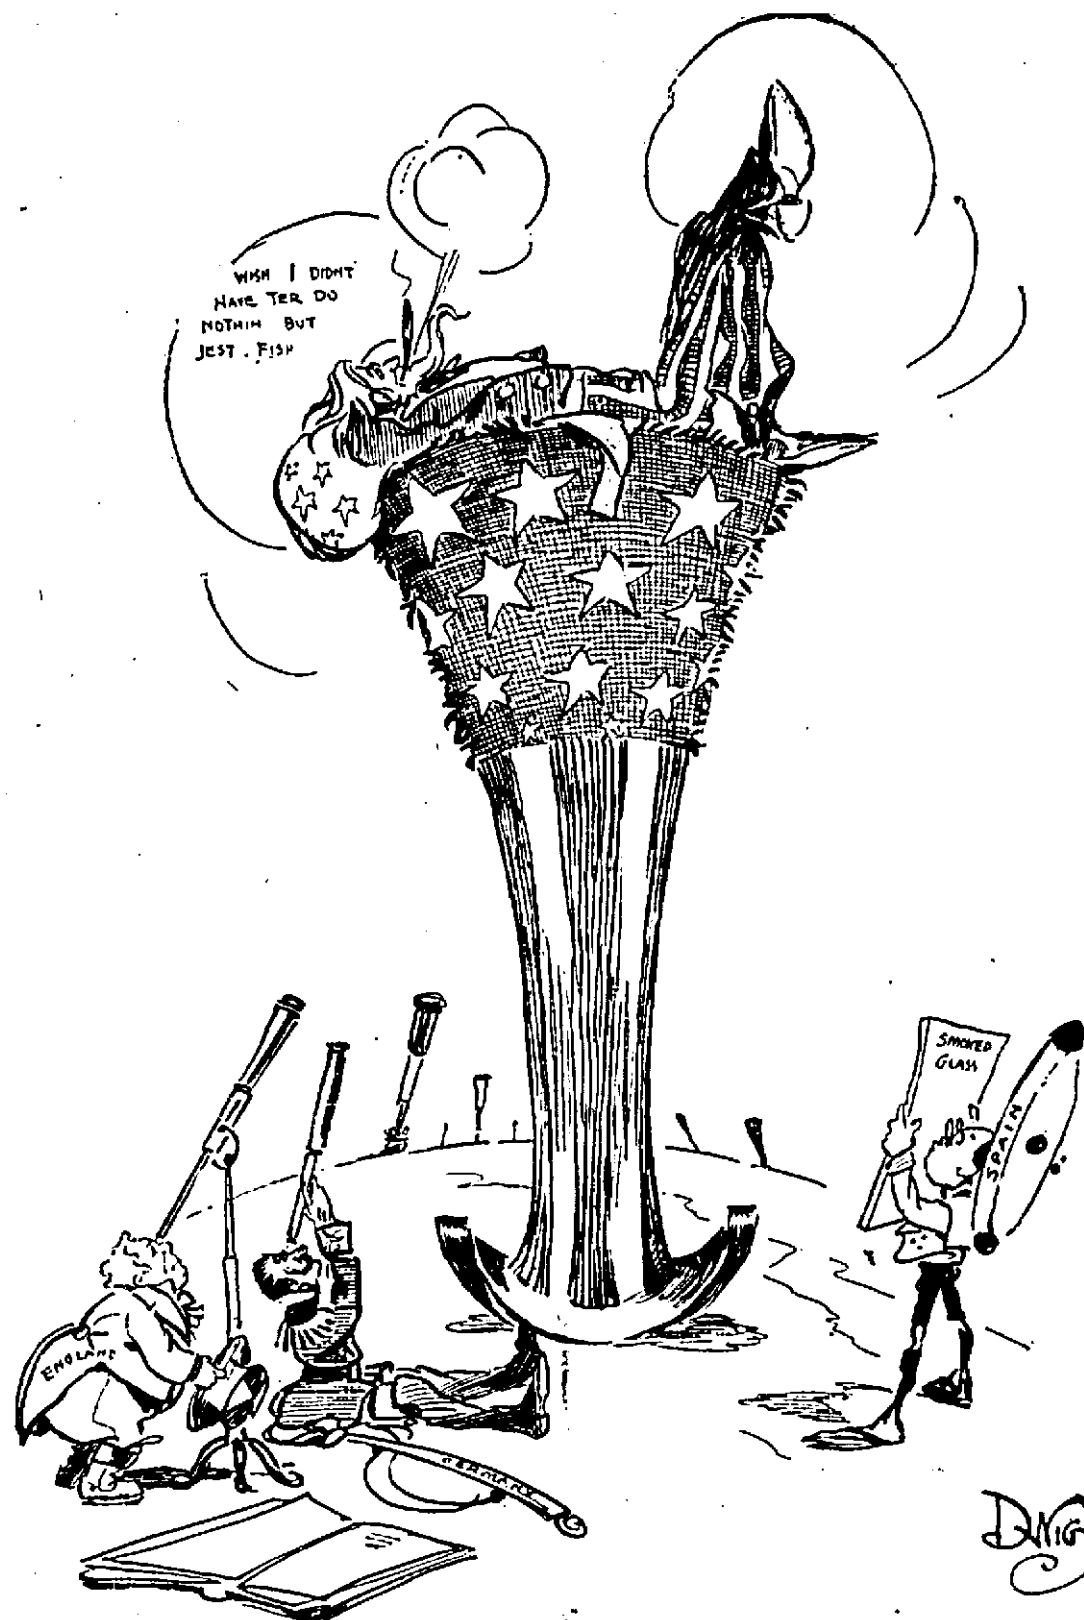

The chief advisers of his majesty are said to hold that, unless by measures of this kind the over-sea trade to China be monopolized by Russia, the opportunity will slip by forever, because once the Panama canal has been completed, the United States, as the great Pacific power, will resolutely veto every effort to seize the commercial markets of China by means of territorial aggrandizement.

News of the War. A large number of Russians reported wounded in an engagement on the Yalu river passed through Mukden.

Belief exists at Chefoo that Chinese neutrality will be broken soon by a general uprising.

The Japanese attack upon Port Arthur, planned as a surprise for Easter, was foiled by Russian vigilance.

The Japanese have begun invasion of eastern Manchuria with an immense army.

FIVE MEN ARE WOUNDED IN GOTHAM FEUD FIGHT

Battle Lasts Over Half Hour, Blocks Surface Cars, and Draws Great Crowd.

New York, April 11.—Three brothers, Thomas, William, and Michael Gilbride, were seriously, if not fatally stabbed, and Harry and John McShane, also brothers, were badly wounded Sunday in a feud fight.

On Saturday a fight occurred between Harry McShane and Thomas Gilbride and both were arrested. Sunday McShane gathered about twenty of his friends in the back room of a saloon at the corner of First avenue and Twenty-third street. Then, according to the police, he approached Gilbride, professed regret for their trouble of the day before, and finally induced the Gilbride party to go with him to the saloon to drink and forget their differences. As soon as all were inside the saloon McShane is said to have given a signal at which his friends began the fight.

Harry McShane devoted his energy to Tom Gilbride. The fight between these two men lasted nearly five minutes, and Gilbride fell to the floor insensible and bleeding from a jagged cut in the abdomen and another cut on the right shoulder.

Then Harry McShane attacked William Gilbride and inflicted several wounds, one of which was on the head. The men fought their way out of the saloon and continued the battle in the street, causing a crowd to collect that blocked surface cars and led to the calling out of police reserves. The fight lasted half an hour.

When the police reserves arrived they sent Thomas and William Gilbride to the hospital and arrested the two McShanes, who were bleeding from a dozen wounds.

Michael Gilbride, with a serious stab wound over his heart, evaded the police and was taken home by his friends.

HILL IS MAD; MAY GIVE UP

If the Harriman Decision Is Adverse, He Will Retire From Active Business.

DECLARES HE IS WEARY OF IT ALL

May Resign Control of the Great Northern Road—The Present Suit Is Anxiously Watched by Shareholders of Merger.

[Special by Scripps-McIntae.]

St. Paul, Minn., April 11.—President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern, says he will retire if Harriman wins his suit and obtains control of the Northern Pacific.

"I have fought the northwest battles for twenty-five years," he said, "and I'm getting tired of it. I will be 66 years old next fall. If the Harriman interests win this suit we will retire and sell out to them. The Great Northern will not continue the battle for the development of northwestern territory. What we will do is outlined in my testimony and the testimony of others in the Northern Securities case. We meant every word.

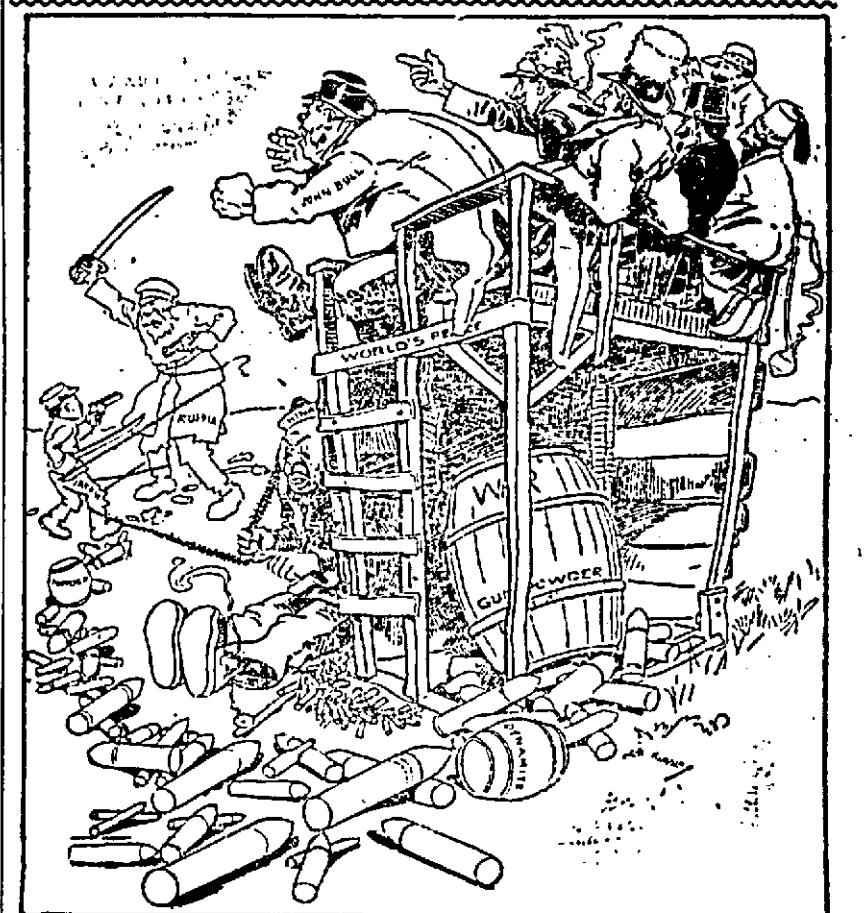

Tries to Obey Decree. "The securities company is trying to follow the decree and will. I am trying to obey the law. When I gave that testimony I said that if the Harriman interests controlled the Northern Pacific it would be either a case of survive or perish with us, and it is. It means to sell out to them or retire from the fight. We will retire, that's all.

"This country, through which our lines run can look for some one else to fight for its interests and build up new markets for it. These people who are constantly fighting us forget that I am not compelled to fight their battles. There is no reason why I should work and fight and labor for them when they don't appreciate it. Let them see these lines in the grasp of some interest which has not as its greatest object the upbuilding of the northwest and no other country and see what will happen.

Effect of Outside Ownership. "You can figure it out as well as I can. What will lines that don't care a rap for the northwest do, especially when they have been fighting for years for the business we have been battling to draw to the northwest and keep there.

"I have prospered, of course, and I have nothing except personal pride and the desire to protect the interests of the loyal friends who have always followed me and supported me. If the Union Pacific interests gain their point all that will be left to do will be to protect these men as best we can and sell."

GALESBURG HAS A FATAL FIRE

Two Firemen Are Killed by Falling Walls at High School.

Galesburg, Ill., April 11.—Two firemen were killed and the city suffered a loss of $100,000 in a fire which destroyed the high school building Sunday night. Firemen John Slater and Al Anderson were killed by a falling wall. The fire caught in the furnace room and had gained a great start when discovered. The flames communicated to the manual training department adjoining and spread rapidly to the upper floors. Breaking out through the roof, the sparks threatened the large seminary of Knox college and the college chapel. The girls packed their personal effects and many of them left the building. The entire fire-fighting force of the city, with the volunteer force of the Burlington railroad, fought the flames, which they succeeded in confining to the high school building.

Automobile Plans

The Much Talked of Meet at the St. Louis Exposition, Etc.

Automobilists are enthusiastic over the plans for the national run to be made to the Louisiana Purchase exposition to be held at St. Louis this summer. While no definite action has yet been taken by many automobilists, it will not be long before the itinerary of runs for the season will be mapped out, and this will include the trip to the Mount Club.

Great interest is being shown in the run. At the Chicago Automobile club it has been the talk of the members since the schedule of the New Yorkers was announced. Frank N. Mudd, who is on the runs and tours committee of the American Automobile association, says Chicago will probably have the largest delegation of any city in the trip to St. Louis, and he does not hesitate to say that 300 machines are likely to line up for the race to Missouri.

Chicago should have more machines in the event than any other city on account of its nearness to the exposition city.

President John Farson of the Chicago Automobile club is in New York and, according to a letter received a few days ago, is not likely to return immediately.

President Farson predicts a big season in the sport not only in New York and Chicago, but all over the country. He says that great interest is being manifested in Guthrie.

The annual meeting of the Florida East Coast Automobile association was recently held at Daytona, Fla., when several important changes in the constitution of the association and other things which will bear on next winter's tournament were decided.

The former president, Dr. H. H. Seeley, who labored earnestly for the association, was succeeded by C. G. Burgoyne of New York, who is doing splendid work for good roads in Florida and is the owner of three automobiles.

The old secretary, John B. Parkinson, was re-elected, and the former treasurer, S. H. Gove of Daytona, will continue to act as treasurer.

The first vice president, W. H. Peters, was succeeded by J. A. Hendricks, and J. D. Price of Orlando was elected second vice president.

It was decided to make all races next year invitation races and also to raise the entrance fee in order to keep the annual meetings at a high standard.

It was also decided that there will be no change in the annual meet. The question of purchasing new timing clocks so as to time every mile in a long race was left for later decision.

The expenses connected with the tournament, including the fifteen miles of telegraph and telephone wire along the beach, were about $5,000, but the total cost, including prizes, was several thousands more.

The dates for next winter's meet will be between Jan. 17 and Feb. 6, when European competitors will undoubtedly be present to compete with the Americans.

The weather conditions at this year's meet were not nearly as good as those of last year, as the days were cold and the atmosphere moist, which, it is conceded, makes the Vanderbilt mile in thirty-nine seconds all the more wonderful.

The rating of automobile and power boats was decided at a meeting of the American Power Boat association held recently in the east.

It was decided, after a lengthy discussion, that an automobile boat is one whose rating exceeds ten times the square root of its load water line length. In automobile boats the midship section shall be the actual great transverse immersed area. All other elements for measurements shall be the same as heretofore provided in the present racing rules of the association. The classification shall be all below 50 feet between 50 and 100 feet, and all over 100 feet.

It was resolved that the owners of power boats who wish to have their boats timed for a record over the measured mile course in Manhasset bay, New York, for which a certificate will be issued by the association, will be required to notify the secretary of the association at least a week in advance. The fee for official timing is to be $10 and the days chosen for the runs are to be the second and fourth Saturdays in May, June, July, August and September.

THE SAME OLD METHODS.

That the governor is conducting a desperate campaign, is evidenced by developments that are of daily occurrence. He waited until the last minute before calling his state convention, evidently expecting that snap caucuses and conventions would work to his advantage.

He has discovered, however, that the forces opposed to him are neither Jowsy nor sleepy. On the other hand they are very wide awake.

The first county to report is Oconto, where 91 delegates were elected a few days ago, to represent the county in senatorial convention. The governor's Milwaukee organ came out in glaring headlines the day after the caucuses, announcing the success of the administration candidate David Wedgewood. When the facts are that his opponent T. A. Pamplin, the conservative candidate received 62 of the 91 votes, while Mr. Wedgewood only secured 17.

This kind of horse play is for effect and shows how desperate the governor is. His forces in Janesville decided last Friday on H. L. Skavlem as their representative for the Senate. They introduced Mr. Skavlem to the voters through their organ, the labor journal, and not satisfied with saying some good things for their candidate, they devote several columns to berating Senator Whitehead. This is La Follette's idea of campaigning. It was the policy pursued in the third district fight against Babcock. But little was said about the seven candidates who had consented to be tools of the administration, but time, money and oratory was freely used in denouncing congressman Babcock.

These methods failed in the third district and they will fail as signally in every other locality. Mr. Babcock's public record is an open book, and so is Senator Whitehead's. An attack on these men is an insult to their friends and supporters and they happen to be largely in the majority. If the governor's supporters expect to make any headway in Rock county it will be necessary for them to adopt different tactics.

THIRD DISTRICT TACTICS.

An effort has been made on the part of administration forces in Rock county to follow the governors lead in the fight which he made against Babcock in the third district. Senator Whitehead is a thorn in the flesh and the edict has gone forth that he must not be permitted to return to the Senate. The plan to defeat him was to have a candidate in each Assembly district, but thus far Beloit and the first district have failed to produce the man, and it is likely that the districts will be compelled to combine on Mr. Skavlem, the Janesville candidate.

It is a well known fact that the county is conservative and that a large majority of the republican voters are not in sympathy with the governor's methods. The people have confidence in Senator Whitehead. He has been tested and not found wanting. While Mr. Skavlem is a man whose moral character is above reproach, the people generally will favor the candidature of Senator Whitehead. His defeat would mean more than a loss to Rock county for he is recognized throughout the state as a consistent conservative leader.

JUDGE BAENSCH.

The many republicans who met Judge Baensch at the Grand Hotel last Friday evening were impressed with his candor and level-headed common sense. They discovered that he was an approachable man, and they were convinced that if honor came to him at the hands of his party that the executive chambers would be open to all comers and that every citizen would be accorded courteous and respectful hearing. Judge Baensch started out to be a non factional candidate. He possessed an ideal ambition, but in traveling over the state he has discovered that his supporters are confined almost exclusively to the ranks of the conservative element of the party, and that opposed to him is a faction whose declared platform is "no compromise."

Mr. Cook has doubtless made the same discovery and these two candidates must realize that harmony can only be secured by the defeat of third term ambition. The Gazette has long claimed that harmony is the one and only vital issue of the campaign. The family quarrel has become disgusting. With the nomination of Judge Baensch it will be stopped, and peace will again reign in the ranks of the party. It remains for the voters to say whether they desire peace or whether they prefer two years more of unseemly and demoralizing warfare.

The caucuses to be held in the city and county April 18th will elect delegates not only to the state convention, but to county assembly, senatorial and congressional, as well. This is a new order of things but it is just as well. The results of the caucuses will settle a good many uncertainties.

Sanik county will be the first to decide the complexion of public sentiment on the third term proposition. Caucuses will be held there next Saturday and all the game wardens and state employees are working overtime in that section this week.

With two candidates for the Senate and Assembly, and half a dozen for almost every county office the political pot will be kept boiling over time for the next week.

Reports from the northern and central parts of the state indicate that Mr. Cook's campaign is progressing well. The convention is likely to disclose a good many surprises.

If reports are true concerning the high school party some of the young men of the city need a guardian more than they did in infancy.

The factional fight will be carried into every Assembly and Senatorial district in the state. The governor proposes to control the next legislature if possible.

PRESS COMMENT.

La Crosse Chronicle: It is about time for the flowers to bloom in the spring, tra la. It isn't right for the politicians to do all the blooming.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The schuettzfest in the far east promises to last all summer.

Racine Journal: No previous records disclose a governor of this state presuming to tiff with the convention date to say nothing of absolutely dictating if there should be one or two conventions in presidential year.

Chicago Record-Herald: John Mitchell says he has noticed that in every strike "both sides get licked." That wouldn't be so bad, however, if the public didn't have to get licked, too.

Atchison Globe: A correspondent asks: "In writing to my pastor, how should I address him: Dear Dr. Smith, or the Rev. Dr. Smith, or Dear Sir?" We have not a chaplain department but if we had we would instruct the department to say: "My dear woman do not write to your pastor."

Madison Democrat: The announcement that Oshkosh has formally withdrawn from the race for the capital will at least confirm the suspicion that it may really have thought such a race was on.

La Crosse Leader-Press: With the prestige of a new election, Mayor Rose will be able to hold Milwaukee solidly in line for Wall, and as the sentiment in the state seems much the same, the election of a Wall delegation from Wisconsin can now hardly be doubted.

Evening Wisconsin: Great Britain's invasion of Thibet becomes more an opera bouffe performance than a modest conquest, the farther Col. Younghusband advances into the territory of the fag-enders of civilization.

Milwaukee News: It appears that the Japanese-Russian war is largely a contest between the opposing forces to see which can get the largest army into the field before beginning operations.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: As a presidential candidate, Bryan made hundreds of speeches. Judge Parker abstains from saying a word, and still the people refuse to change their opinion of the Democratic party.

Seranton Tribune: Owing to the vigilance of the press censor of the Yellow sea, it is not likely the true story of the "Eastern" war will be known until all correspondents return and begin to write for the magazines.

Superior Telegram: Even down in Missouri the republicans seem to be making inroads and their candidate for mayor was elected in Kansas City Tuesday. Why should we not be optimistic? The world, including Missouri, is growing better every day.

Chicago Chronicle: It is said of Judge Parker by an enthusiastic friend that, "although strongly abstemious he sometimes has a whiskey high ball for dinner." This will make trouble among the prohibition democrats out in Kansas and Nebraska.

Milwaukee Sentinel: One more term for Gov. La Follette and two more elections of justices of the Supreme court would come very near fixing that august body so that the framers of the constitution would not recognize it if they could return to the "glimpses of the moon."

Hudson Star-Times: It seems an especial pity to see a great political party like the democracy of America in the clutches of a Prodigal Son like Hearst. It is appalling to see state after state willing to throw away the great office of the presidency to a man who has not a tinge to recommend him, but a barrel with an open bung hole. Let us hope with the sober sense of the party will be able to assert itself at the convention in St. Louis.

Eau Claire Leader: Now that election is over, people will have time to consider matters which pertain to their immediate welfare. What we require most in Northern Wisconsin are good roads. The subject is one which presents itself forcibly at this particular season. The average country road in these parts during the month of April and May is not to be thought of without a shudder. The Brownlow bill now before congress promises relief. It should have the warm support of every farmer, every business man, and every mechanic in the state.

Fond du Lac Reporter: The good people of St. Louis are much worried for fear that the serving of dog meat to the Filipino tribes at the World's fair will besmear the fair name of their city, but they needn't fret. If nothing worse than a Filipino dog barbecue takes place in their city during the World's fair, no great harm will be done. If the humane society will turn its attention to the care and protection of the ignorant girls who are lured to the city by false promises of lucrative positions, they will be doing humanity a far greater service than they will by preventing the Filipinos from feasting on a few mangy dogs that are better off dead than alive.

PLENTY OF SAP FOR MAPLE SUGAR

Farmers Anticipate the Largest Yield in Many Years—Old Methods Are Gone.

Rock county farmers are scouring out their sap pails, whitening spigots, cleaning evaporators and preparing for the maple sugar season of two decades ago. Sugar maples are at a premium and the farmers who are fortunate enough to own a small grove of them should count money for the next few weeks. For the past ten years the maple sugar crop has been steadily falling off owing to the light winters. This spring it will not be so. Warm days and freezing nights are what the sugar makers like and these conditions seem to prevail this year. On the warm day the sap runs freely toward the branches and at night it drops back slowly. The frost has been unusually deep this year.

Sugar will not only be more plentiful this year, but it will be of better quality. The days of boiling in a soap kettle over a bonfire have passed, and this season more farmers are likely to use the improved steel evaporators which have made maple sugar famous the world over. In the new process the sap is fed into one end of a twenty-foot steel pan placed over a long fire, and divided every few inches by a partition. As the water evaporates the sap passes toward the foot of the pan, where it comes out a clear and highly flavored syrup. The best product is about the color of the lightest grade of brown sugar. The product made from the first run of sap—this is sugar de luxe—will sell at 25 cents a pound, but later good sugar may be had at 18 cents. Syrup will sell at from $1 to $1.50 a gallon.

Can Farmers Combine?
Recent advance in the market price of wheat, cotton and other agricultural products call attention to systematic efforts which have been made for a combination of farmers to enhance prices. Having been engaged in these efforts for many months, their promoter resolutely claims to have been potent in accomplishing the results which we all see.

An enterprising agricultural writer and publisher in Indiana started in to work up this combination. He prints a farmer's paper. He has even written a book in furtherance of this scheme and many will attribute to him the remarkable advance in prices, which others credit to short crops or the war between Japan and Russia. The movement, however, seems to the Sentry worthy of careful notice as a sign of the times and the possible beginning of a new era in the agricultural life of our people.

Farming is and always has been our leading industrial interest. Anything which legitimately improves the condition of the United States, must be of universal concern to all citizens. If it be true, as the leading promoter of this farmers' combination asserts, that his clients can practically combine so as to reap for themselves the enormous profits which speculators, warehousemen and manufacturers have hitherto gained, there will certainly have dawned upon the country a new economic dispensation.

According to the statement of the enterprising originator of this plan, he commenced a combination for dollar wheat on June 26, 1903. He claims to have presented evidence to show that wheat was really worth a dollar. At that time speculators were selling the farmers' wheat crop in futures at 60 cents to 65 cents a bushel. Many millions of bushels were thus contracted and millers as well as dealers sought to contract with the farmers in advance of threshing at 65 cents a bushel.

Owing to the agitation for the farmers' combination, an unusually large number of producers refused to make these advance contracts and even in August and September when the wheat was ready for market, refused to sell at current prices except as absolute necessity compelled.

January 1st, 1904, wheat had reached 90 cents in Chicago, and then the vigilant, belligerent advocate of the combination publicly asserted that it was intrinsically worth $1.01. The subsequent course of the market is well known. People usually ascribe this tendency largely to the outbreak of the war in the Orient. Friends of the farmers' combine will, of course, claim the lion's share of credit, and if it be true that through their efforts a very large part of the resulting profit has gone into the pockets of the farmers instead of the speculators, the Sentry assumes that there will be few to mourn.

As to how much of this credit is their attributable, there will be honest differences of opinion. There are such honest differences on all subjects—even as to the relative sagacity of the elephant and the Missouri mule—but the happy farmer who saved his wheat and realized a profit of 40 to 50 cents a bushel thereon, will have occasion to thank the wide-awake author of the combine scheme, and will have encouragement as well as added facilities for entering upon a similar course of procedure in subsequent years.

Whether such combines will always be effective or not is doubtful. They can seldom show even mythical results equal to those above cited, but undoubtedly the thrifty farmer gains each year in ability to carry out for himself the plan of holding his surplus for higher prices and thus helping to corner the market. With the improvement of his means, the necessity for early sales diminishes.

Whether the possibility of extensive combination among farmers over vast areas is still an open question, on which the Sentry is not called upon at present to express an opinion.

Efforts in that line have mostly failed, but they have usually been made in seasons of agricultural depression and adversity when necessity compelled the farmers to sell their produce as soon as ready for the market at the best prices obtainable. Certainly the present era of prosperity is a most favorable time for a hopeful trial of this interesting experiment.

JANESVILLE A POSSIBLE SITE

ST. PAUL ROAD MAY MAKE IT A DIVISION END.

A NEW LINE INTO ILLINOIS

Will Be Opened May 10th—Engineers Go From Here To Work on Construction.

There is a possibility that Janesville will be made the division end of the new short line into Chicago and to the coal regions of the St. Paul system in Illinois. Rockford is also after the honor, but at the present time if the Janesville people show the proper spirit it stands the best chance. This would mean that thirty-five crews would be located here and that the rich coal fields of Illinois would find their terminus in Janesville, instead of some other city.

Start Work Tomorrow
Tomorrow morning Engineers Al Holmes and John Falter with Fireman Taggart and William Powers will go into Milwaukee where they will take their engines to Rockville, Illinois, to join in the work of ballasting the new cut-off that is to open May 10th. Nine crews will be employed in the work. Two will be from Janesville, three from the southern division, and the rest from the north Milwaukee division. The road is but a hundred and fourteen miles long and leads into the rich coal fields of Illinois.

Want Janesville
It is hoped that enough pressure can be brought to bear to make this city the division end. Rockford is the only competitor and everything now favors the selection of Janesville. Many of the prominent shippers of the city have been approached and have endorsed the project and the local road officials hope that they can land the place.

Many Employees
It would mean that thirty-five more crews would live here than formerly and it would also bring the city in direct communication with southern and western points. The railway men themselves are favoring the Janesville location and it is thought that several engineers who formerly lived here would be returned should it go through.

NORTHWESTERN IS AHEAD IN STRIKE

The Railway Brings Imported Laborers Into Their Construction Work Quickly.

The Chicago & North-Western railway has safely come out of a strike of its section men in southern Wisconsin and a dozen crews of these laborers are wishing they had retained their steady and well-paid employment. The places have been satisfactorily filled with imported laborers among whom are numerous Italians. These are understood to be giving satisfaction and there is no indication that any of the strikers will be taken back. Some months ago a labor union agitator spent weeks in this state organizing the section foremen and perfecting arrangements so that when a demand should be made upon the company for higher pay for the unskilled workers under the charge of these foremen, and higher wages for the foremen, the demand might be enforced by calling the men from their work in case of refusal to give the desired advance. A week ago the demand was made, refused and the strike took place. All the section crews working on the North-Western system out of Madison quit, with the exception of one crew at work on the switching yards of Madison.

These men refused to give up their work as they said they were satisfied with their work and the pay they received for it. The strikers were receiving $1.35 a day and demanded a raise of wages to $1.50. The demand was refused on the ground that the work could be procured at the lower rate and that there was no necessity of granting the increase. Then followed the strike. An unsuccessful effort was made to get other unions to join in sympathy, but nothing whatever has come of it, the places of the strikers have been filled and the idle men are seeking other employment.

Encouraging Moods.
One thing is indisputable; the chronic mood of looking longingly at what we have not, or thoughtfully at what we have, realizes two very different types of character. And we certainly can encourage the one or the other.

JENKIN LLOYD JONES PREACHES

Former Janesville Divine Makes a Telling Address in His Chicago Church.

A lesson to women was found yesterday by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, a former Janesville divine, in Robert Browning's "Colombe's Birthday." Preaching in All Souls' church, Chicago, Dr. Jones said:
"O, women of today, the perplexity of Colombe is yours. Will you seek the royalty the world has to give, its society honors; royalty of display, style, affected learning, such as is won through our clubs, your circles, your cliques, and, on low levels, your dressmaker and milliner? The royalty of a hundred good things, but forgetting or ignoring the one essential royalty, the regal life of the soul, expressed in intellectual integrity and revealed in spiritual simplicity."

"Colombe's royalty was found in the uncalculating life of service, the unseeking, and, when needs be, the unspoken life of love. She laid aside the royalty of the without that she might be clothed with the queenly raiment that is woven from within. This is the 'life with God,' the better part of which Jesus spoke, they Mary portion that cannot be taken away."

"Let us keep clearly in mind the perspective of Browning's drama. Not the confiders, nor Borthold on his way to imperial dominion, not even the golden mouthed Valence, but the simple bit of girlhood, this 18 year old queen, rising out of her duchy to become the empress of hearts, the mother benefactor of needy lives, the mother confessor of guilty souls—she is the most potent force, she is the central figure in the drama, as she is the central figure in history, the divinest guiding in religion, in one way or another the world over offers its sincerest worship at Madonna shrines."

"Colombe" is to be rendered dramatically in All Souls' church, Chicago, next Friday night.

In a melee with Hawkins committed assault, it is alleged, and the police arrested whom they believed to be William. In court the prisoner said he had just stepped off a train from San Francisco and displayed proof of service and scars showing that he had been both blooded and maimed in Mindanao. The evidence was sufficient and Hawkins was set free.

FINE WATCH REPAIRING

QUAIL ARE NOW MORE PLentiful

FARMERS SHELTER AND FEED BIRDS DURING WINTER.

REGARD THEM AS THEIR PETS

Strange BIR, However, Are Sent Into the Game Warden, for Damage Done.

The quail in Wisconsin, instead of having been killed off by the cold winter, will be more plentiful this year than ever. The reason for this is that many farmers all over the state sheltered the quail last winter and kept them from starving to death by feeding them.

"The farmers have grown so attached to the quail that they regard them almost as household pets," said Assistant State Game Warden Chas. D. Nelson yesterday. "I know of numerous cases where they have sheltered and fed them all winter long. One farmer out in the town of Madison fed between 30 and 40 all winter. The farmers say that they follow the team when the men are plowing, and pick up the worms that are turned up by the plow."

The quail are most plentiful in the southwestern part of the state. They are so numerous there that it is possible to catch 50 or 60 a day in traps. Several hundred have been captured in that way, and been taken to Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties where quail are scarce.

"The farmers of the southwestern part of the state object to having their quail taken away from them," said Mr. Nelson. "They like them too well. Most of the farmers would object to even taking off the restriction against killing them. Some of them look at things differently though, and we have a lot of amusing bills sent to us for damages done to crops by game."

These bills, which are sent in from all parts of the country, are generally for damage done by rabbits and quail.

One of them sent in by John Hildebrandt, of Oshkosh, reads as follows: For five apple trees that bore fruit last year, at $3 a tree, $15.00 For two smaller trees, at $1.50 each, 3.00 For seven smaller ones, at 50c each, 3.50 For damage done by 15 male hens to corn that had been left unshocked, 3.00

Total $24.50 Mr. Hildebrandt, in his letter, says that since the state claims to own the game it ought to pay the damage which it's game does. He says that he is not sure that his bill will be allowed, but that if it is not, "it is time the farmers of the state began to clean their guns and begin to look after their interests."

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The North Pole Polar

Brin was ambitious, and, like many of us, his ambition was always getting him into trouble. He was a polar bear and lived amid the ice and snows of the far north. One day, overhearing a conversation between two Arctic explorers, he said to himself, for he usually talked to himself, not being able to get any one else to listen to him: "I wonder if I couldn't find that north pole they talk so much about. Here these fellows come from way off to the south and freeze most of themselves and starve the rest to find something that must be floating around loose up here, where I've lived all my days. By Jinks, I'll find it."

For days he wandered on in his uncertain search until one day he saw in the distance something sticking out of the water that he was sure was the north pole. "It's a pole anyway," he said to himself, "and I'm sure it's far enough north to be a north pole. I shall be famous if I find what all these men have been looking for so long."

So he crawled along the ice to where a ship had foundered and left one of its masts sticking out of the water. "That's it!" cried Brin eagerly. "At last I have it. I shall hold it till some one comes."

So he climbed to the top.

But no one came, of course.

"Oh, dear," thought he, "how long shall I have to wait for some one to tell my discovery to? This is getting tiresome."

Yes, and it was getting dangerous, for the ice drifted away and left him stranded. For all I know, he's there yet.

"Good gracious!" said he. "What's the use of finding a thing you can't take home to show any one?"

"That's true. What is the use?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

DEEP POLITICAL PLOT NOW LAID

deep political half According to a Madison dispatch appearing in the Milwaukee News Governor La Follette has planned what is regarded by his supporters as one of the smoothest political coups that has ever been contemplated in connection with the politics of any state. It is said to come from authoritative sources that in case he succeeds in carrying a sufficient number of caucuses in the coming contest he will not be a candidate for the nomination for governor, but will influence the delegates for some man that he will pick personally and compel them to accept through sheer power of his dictatorial influence. It will be a repetition of the plan of campaign in the third district. The people are not to be told who the administration candidate for governor is. He is going to deceive voters in the belief that he is to be the candidate, hoping that he will be able to carry the caucuses for the machine. Unless something unforeseen happens that compels him to show his hand, he will keep out of the convention himself.

At the time the delegates gather some silver-tongued work will show his personal choice. He, however, fears the organization that has been built up for Mr. Baensch and Mr. Cook, and the truth about his plan will not be known until he sees that he has carried a sufficient number of caucuses. This plan, of course, is conditioned upon the contingency that La Follette sees he will be able to grab the United States senatorship.

World's Fair Handicap

Noted Horses That Will Run In $50,000 Stake Race at St. Louis. Other Sporting Topics of the Moment--Redfern and Phillips.

The thoroughbred horse world is rife with conjecture concerning the big races of the coming season. Future betting has been brisk in many quarters, and the prices offered by bookmakers seem, if anything, a trifle more generous than was the case last year.

One of the principal topics discussed is the World's Fair handicap, to be run over the course at the St. Louis fair. Its value will be $50,000, and consequently the pick of the runners of the country have been entered. McChesney carries top weight, 128 pounds, and following the great champion owned by E. E. Smathers is Herula, the property of E. R. Thomas, shouldering two pounds less. The full list of entries is as follows:

	Age	Weight
McChesney	5	128
Herula	5	126
Africander	4	124
Irish Lad	4	122
Dick Wells	4	121
Gold Heels	4	120

The World's Fair handicap will be run June 25, and the route will cover a mile and a quarter. The rules of the Western Jockey club are to govern.

When Papa Redfern and Papa Phillips get into an old fashioned argument as to whether the Junior Redfern or the Junior Phillips shall have a certain amount in the stable of Mr. E. R. Thomas, more talk will fly around "promises-like" than any two photographs working overtime are likely to be able to record.

Both of these boys, who are about as clever as any that have been engaged to ride during the important meetings this year, have been signed by Mr. Thomas, who holds first call on their services. If the boys are not possessed of ambition but they are, as much would not be said for their fathers, so far as parental pride in the youths of the two families is concerned.

Both elders have positive convictions that all the genius of the riding world rests safely within the brain cells of their respective sons. It is predicted freely by those who are conversant with current turf affairs that the drag-on of jealousy will animate each papa prior to every race that will take place when the Thomas stable begins to make its appearance.

What will happen under those conditions is not predicted, only surmised. Phillips was engaged first, and when Redfern was added to the stable as a riding mate for the western boy other owners came to the conclusion that Mr. Thomas certainly meant to take no risk in the matter of jockeys and had made up his mind that good horses should have the best that could be obtained to ride them.

Some there are, though, who have experienced their own season of tribulation in the past who wonder how Mr. Thomas will get through the season

Baseball Players On Tiptoe

Opening of the Campaign Gladdens the Heart of the Festive "Fan"---The Boston Situation---Collins' Team In Rare Shape.

The baseball sharps are now on tiptoe owing to the arrival of the season of 1904, and from now on until fall the swat of the home run and the thud of nimble feet will sound sweetest music for the ears of the indispensable fans.

Trips to warm climates for practice games have lumbered the muscles of the ball tossers, so that a first class article of the national game will be seen from start to finish, and now, if the officials of the major leagues will maintain blessed, not to say unusual, silence for five months, the people who keep the turnstiles clicking will feel that they are receiving their money's worth. Playing is always a better paying attraction than squabbles among rival owners. The sooner the magnates take this lesson to heart the larger will be their dividends.

In Boston baseball affairs are strenuous, to say the least. Jimmy Collins and his fast aggregation of champions are confident of winning the American league pennant. They returned from their preliminary tour in rare shape. Collins says that never in his career has he seen a bunch of players in finer condition at this time of the year.

The weather has been better than was expected. There was no rain to interfere with practice, and the champions are tuned up for hard and fast work.

"I could not wish for anything better," says Jimmy. "Every man is in prime condition, and we begin the season with the brightest prospects. The new recruits are showing up well and are going to make fast men, I am quite sure."

"The pitching staff here is in A1 shape. Tannehill was never speedier. He says his arm is as strong as a steel bar. Wolfe and Doran are proving to be good men behind the bat."

"O'Neill's work is up to the average. He fields and bats well."

The National Bean Eaters are straining every effort to get into shape to show to good advantage alongside of the Collins diamond stars. Clearly their task is difficult, but they are "buckling to" their work like the Trojans of song and story.

Dick Cooley, Batty and Delehanty continue to drive the ball all over the lot, and all pitchers look alike to them. Cannell and Captain Tenney ought to make lots of runs, as they hit ahead of that trio. Cannell appears to like leading off. He is a nice waltzer and will walk many times. His hitting, however, is very good.

Jesse Tannehill is looked on as a great minstrel for the Boston Americans. In addition to pitching, he sometimes offers a bit of valuable advice to twirlers. Recently he said:

"A man ought not to get into the box unless he is right. If he does, he takes chances. Yet often a man has gone into the box not feeling fit and has worked himself into good form and come out fully as well as if he were feeling well. If you say you are not feeling well when it is up to you to pitch you will be accused of shirking. Therefore a man would rather take his medicine under any conditions than Heavy Loss by Speculation."

A baseball fan with more time on his hands than he knew what to do with the other day figured out the names of ball players in the various leagues in America in the following unique manner:

Zink of Rock Island, Steele of Pine Bluff, Flint of Schenectady, Stone of Boston, Rock of Providence, Cole of Cedar Rapids, Clay of Meriden, Glass of Decatur, Wood of Milwaukee, Root of John, Moss of Birmingham, Rush of Montgomery, Wood of Salt Lake, Pense of Nashville, Bean of Jersey City, Ilce of Kingston, Hays of Concord, Reed of Terre Haute, Berry of Chicago, Pears of Omaha, Coffee of South Bend, Strah of Joliet, Partree of Troy, Applegate of Worcester, Hemphill of St. Louis, Tannehill of the Boston Americans and Berryhill of Burlington wind up the minerals and vegetables.

Different nations are represented by German of Toledo, French of Memphis, Wales of Louisville and Malay of Joliet.

Manager Barrow of Detroit tells a good story, which is as follows:

"While we were waiting for a session at a hotel I got to talking with Cozy Dolan, and he sprang a new one on me. He said 'Cy Seymour made so many errors in the Cincinnati outfield last season because his hands were too small to handle the ball well. 'That reminded me of the experience Hans Wagner had when he was with me at Paterson, N. J., six years ago."

"Hans has the biggest hands of any man in the business, I guess, and in one game early in the season he went into the outfield with a new pair of trousers on. The pockets were too tight for him, and Wagner squeezed his package of tobacco into the hip pocket with difficulty."

"Along in the middle of an inning he stuck one hand into his pocket to get a chew, and the hand stuck there in spite of all his efforts to pull it out. To make it worse a fly was hit in his direction just then, and Hans had to grab it with one hand."

"He got a friend to help him pull his fist out of his pocket when the inning was over."

SCROFULA A DISEASE WE INHERIT.

Scrofula manifests itself in many ways. Swelling of the glands of the neck and throat, Catarrh, weak eyes, white swelling, offensive sores and abscesses, skin eruptions, loss of strength and weakness in muscles and joints. It is a miserable disease and traceable in almost every instance to some family blood taint.

Scrofula is bred in the bone, is transmitted from parent to child, the seeds are planted in infancy and unless the blood is purged and purified and every atom of the taint removed Scrofula is sure to develop at some period in your life.

No remedy equals S. S. S. as a cure for Scrofula. It cleanses and builds up the blood, makes it rich and pure, and under the tonic effects of this great Blood Remedy, the general health improves, the digestive organs are strengthened, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. The deposit of tubercular matter in the joints and glands is carried off as soon as the blood is restored to a normal condition, and the sores, eruptions, and other symptoms of Scrofula disappear.

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable and harmless; an ideal blood purifier and tonic that removes all blood taint and builds up weak constitutions. Our physicians will advise without charge, all who write us about their case. Book mailed free.

It was treated with Paracamp and to my surprise, the next morning all soreness was entirely gone and the foot entirely well. The result was truly wonderful."

Paracamp relieves Sprains, Inflammations and Swellings because it works on nature's plan of opening the pores of the skin drawing out all inflammation and stimulating a good active circulation of the blood; because of the open pores, the cooling, soothing and healing oils are enabled to penetrate direct to the afflicted muscles giving instant relief.

PLAN TO ADJOURN CONGRESS SOON

OUTLINE SCHEME OF CAMPAIGN

Democratic Leaders Say They Have Enough Material to Go Before the People and Make a Vigorous Fight for National Offices.

Washington, April 11.—There is prospect of an adjournment of Congress on April 28. This date for terminating the present session has been discussed among senators and representatives of the majority party, and it is expected a meeting of the Republican steering committee of the Senate will be called within a few days to map out a definite program for the remaining days. Those advocating an early adjournment say there is no legislation pending that should require later than the end of April to complete.

Plan of Democrats.
In the meantime the minority is making up its record for the campaign, and its leaders say the present session of Congress has given them a just cause to plead on the stump. "If any Congress ever has made such an exhibition of neglecting, repudiating and dodging great public questions there certainly is no record of it," declared Mr. Williams, the minority leader in the House, commenting on the program. "We are adjourning in haste because the majority party is afraid of a postoffice investigation and the rapid manufacture of Democratic campaign material. There will be time in the short session for little besides appropriations and the two years will have been wasted," declared Congressman Underwood.

Find Campaign Material.
Both Mr. Williams and Mr. Underwood say the Democratic party will call upon the Republicans to explain in the coming campaign their vote upon resolutions to order a general investigation of the Postoffice Department and the refusal of the majority to attempt any equalization of tariff schedules. Along this line of campaign material Congressman Underwood further said:

"Anti-injunction legislation has been smothered in committee, as have the immigration law amendments and the bills to repeal the desert land laws. The House went on record as sustaining the 'usurpation and invasion' policy of the President, although by a narrow margin. It had an opportunity and refused to eliminate trust-made material in naval construction, and on the same bill it turned down an amendment for eight-hour labor in the government service."

Mr. Underwood also mentioned the Judge Swayne, Smoot and Burton cases as demanding attention and being neglected "because of this undue haste to adjourn."

CHINESE EXCLUSION.

President to issue Order Against Immigration After Dec. 7.

Washington, April 11.—"One man power" and "executive legislation," now under such severe criticism in Congress, bid fair to play an important part in the exclusion of the Chinese after Dec. 7 next. The plan is under discussion in cabinet circles that Congress shall be permitted to neglect to pass a bill meeting the crisis caused by the denunciation of the present treaty by the Chinese, and that the Chinese shall be excluded by executive order to bridge the hiatus until a new treaty can be negotiated or Congress takes some action later. The law of 1902, in the opinion of many persons, becomes a dead letter on Dec. 7, when the Chinese treaty will be abrogated. The law contemplates a treaty in its clauses looking to the exclusion of the Chinese. It is contended by some important members of the administration that all that is necessary to carry out the law of 1902 is for the President to issue an "order" and under that "order" the bureau of immigration can exclude the Chinese quite as effectively as at present. The matter has been referred to Attorney-General Knox, and it was said by callers at the White House that he was inclined to the opinion that the President can handle the matter quite as well as Congress. He is, however, finding the subject full of complications.

GLOBE IS ANCIENT.

Map in President's Office Proves to Be Incorrect.

Washington, April 11.—Senator Dillingham was at the executive office discussing Alaskan affairs with the president. As is the case with everything, the president became greatly interested, and as Mr. Dillingham had spent several months in Alaska, Mr. Roosevelt was getting some information first hand. Finally a point was reached where some doubt arose as to the geography of the big territory, and both men sought the globe standing in the room. Following the Yukon River to its mouth, they found that this mighty stream emptied into the Arctic Ocean on the north side of Bering Strait. "Your globe is too ancient for me, Mr. President," said the Vermont senator. "I have been there, and know better than that." There will be a requisition for a new globe for the White House, as the one which has served so long must have been used before Secretary Seward bought Alaska from the Russians.

Canal Zone Laws.

Washington, April 11.—Senator Hopkins of the senate committee on interoceanic canals conferred with the president about the legislation to be presented to the senate by his committee governing the Panama canal strip. The bill as it stands gives to the canal commission both legislative and executive authority on the canal strip and directs the appointment of a judge from the commission, who will carry out the judicial functions of the government. The president agrees with the committee that the commission should not have any other authority in conflict with it and that the responsibility should be wholly with that body. It is the intention of the president to appoint Gen. George W. Davis, a member of the commission, to be governor of the canal zone.

Big Gun Record.

Washington, April 11.—Announcement has been made at the navy department that a cablegram received from Rear Admiral Evans six weeks ago, giving the scores of the practice on that station, was misinterpreted. A personal letter shows that the Wisconsin made better records than the Alabama, which up till now has held the record. The best 13-inch gun pointer of the Wisconsin made nine hits out of ten shots and the total percentage of hits was 83. All classes of guns on the Wisconsin made better records than those of the Alabama, and the Wisconsin in consequence will receive the pennant for battleships.

Fish Hatchery for Chicago.

Representative James R. Mann introduced a bill appropriating $200,000 for establishing a fish hatchery and fish cultural station at Chicago. It is said that a station is needed for the replenishing of Illinois streams, which are being depleted rapidly of the best food fish. One of the plans is to have the hatchery in one of the Chicago parks. It is thought the permission of one of the park boards might be obtained if congress passed the bill.

Coal in Alaska.

Washington, April 11.—The geological survey has received a report of an extensive deposit of Alaskan coal, accessible to the Pacific Ocean, located from twelve to twenty-five miles inland from Controller Bay, Alaska. The coal fields lie behind the Controller Bay oil fields, and include about eighty-five square miles. The coal resembles the harder bituminous coals of the east more than it does anthracite.

Memorial Services.

Washington, April 11.—The House of Representatives conducted memorial services Sunday in memory of the late Representatives Foerderer and Burk of Pennsylvania. In addition to the members of the families of the deceased, a large number of Pennsylvanians occupied seats in the galleries.

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits Sons.

Washington, April 11.—Mrs. Roosevelt has left for Groton, Mass., for a visit with her sons.

JEWS SAFE ON EASTER SUNDAY.

Reports From Many Cities in Russia Fail to Show Bloodshed.

St. Petersburg, April 11.—Reports from all the Jewish districts of Russia regarding the happenings of Easter Sunday have been received. According to these dispatches the Russian Easter passed quietly and there was absolutely no attempt to molest the Jews. The executions of the governor's orders to the local authorities and the police prevented the outbreaks which were feared at Kishineff, the scene of the disturbances last Easter. There was not a single case there in which Jews and Christians were involved. The following dispatches have been received:

Odessa—There was no attempt at a disturbance. The reports circulated at Ekaterinoslav of an outbreak at Odessa are false.

Kishineff—This city has been entirely tranquil.

Kief—Perfect order prevailed here during Easter day.

Vilna—It is reported that two Jews assaulted a local watchman, cutting him with knives. Perfect order prevailed Easter.

Balta—This city was tranquil.

Ekaterinoslav—Easter day was quiet.

Grodna—No attempts were made to disturb the peace.

Vitebsk—There was no disorder of any kind.

Minsk—There was some rowdiness here, but it did not lead to any serious disturbances.

WADE IN MUD TO SAVE A BOY

Fashionably Dressed Young Women Rescue a Drowning Lad.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 11.—Two fashionably clad young women waded waist deep through a pond to save a boy's life. Some youngsters had been playing on a raft and one fell overboard. His companions screamed for help. An automobile, in which were seated the two young women, dashed up. They made a human chain, and when the boy was saved they took him to his home in the auto.

Millionaire Weds Waitress.

Salt Lake, Utah, April 11.—John Oldham, a bachelor, 70 years old, and a multimillionaire, has married a waitress of Toledo, O. On their wedding trip to Scotland Oldham transferred his bank account to her.

Digs Up Fortune in Garden.

Nantes, April 11.—An inmate of the poorhouse here, while digging in the garden, unearthed an antique vase decorated with painting and containing 2,000 gold pieces of the Gallo-Roman period.

Mental Trim Required.

A man who wants to do his best must keep himself in mental trim. If he would achieve the highest success he must be a correct thinker. He cannot think discord, and bring harmonious conditions into his business. His wrong thought will honeycomb and undermine his prospects in life.

ADMIRAL GOMBEI YAMAMOTO, JAPAN'S MINISTER OF MARINE.

The present efficient condition of the Japanese navy is due in no small measure to the able management of Admiral Baron Yamamoto, under whose watchful eye the midships' fleet has expanded to formidable proportions. Baron Yamamoto received much of his naval training abroad and has profited by it.

VICEROY ALEXEIEFF, THE CZAR'S COMMANDER IN CHIEF IN MANCHURIA.

Vice Admiral Alexeieff, although a sailor, is in charge of the czar's land and water campaign in the far east. His persistent aggressions and forward policy have led to hostilities. As a sort of Russian Pooch Bah he is the supreme authority in Manchuria in civil as well as military and naval affairs. He led the allies in the relief of Peking several years ago.

NICHOLAS II, CZAR OF ALL THE RUSSIAS.

The peace loving czar who finds himself at war because of his empire's greed for land has ruled Russia nine years and is in his thirty-sixth year. The Hague peace tribunal was his idea, as was also the idea of despoiling China of Manchuria.
